CAN'T GET OVER 'GUMSHOE' TRAIT

Mayer and City Council Work Under Cover in Preparing to Install Water Meters.

SLIDING RATE ALL PREPARED

Superintendent is Instructed to Put 100 Ordered Tuesday Night—
Method of Buying Them.

The mayor and members of the common council of Rushville can not outlive their "gumshoe" traits. They are plotting now to install water meters every place in Rushville. There seems to be very little objection to the installation of meters, but the ultimate consumer would like to know what is going on.

The "star chamber" session of the regular council meeting Tuesday night was referred to yesterday. After the continued whispering and the bobbing of heads in the region of the table where the members of the council array themselves, the mayor announced, as was stated yesterday, that a motion had been passed instructing A. T. Mahin, superintendent of the water and light plant, to purchase a hundred Keystone water meters at the contract price, which, it will be recalled, was not mentioned out loud in meeting.

When the newspaper reporters and some other spectators had left the council chamber and the mayor and councilmen considered it safe to talk above a whisper, the water and light plant superintendent was instructed to begin at the hotels first, because it is there that the greatest waste is. Many other consumers who use a good deal of water have already been compelled to use meters.

The "star chamber" Tuesday night did not cease with the whispered conference around the table. When the whispering was loudest and most animated, the otherwise undisturbed atmosphere of a pleasant council meeting was interrupted by a loud call from City Attorney Howard Barrett. Every one in the room shuddered, pinched himself to see if he was awake, rubbed his eyes to arouse himself thoroughly and sat up rather expectantly. Things were looking up. Indications were that somebody was going to say something aloud.

But it was nothing. The city attorney only wanted Bill Moffett, the regular spectator at the council meeting who has not missed one for so many years. The audience fell asleep again. The disappointment was great. Bill was asked if he had a key to the back room. He replied that he did not, but he allowed that he could get one down stairs.

Bill soon returned with the key and the council, led by Mayor Black, marched back triumphantly. The spectators didn't care very much because they were all snoring by that time anyway. Very soon the council emerged in a body from the little, old back room, and after a few more whisperings back and forth, the announcement extraordinary of the passage of the motion was made by the mayor.

Bill Moffett was asked what the council made the march to the little back room for, and he replied that it didn't amount to anything, because the council just wanted to look at the little, old room. They were thinking about fixing it up, Bill said. It was rather significant, too, that the whispering was at its height, when the council retired, apparently thinking some curious person might hear them talking about water meters, and was continued when they returned.

This meter business is all a secret and all water consumers are advised to consider as such. They are cautioned not to whisper a word of this to their next-door neighbor, who may or may not be a water consumer, so that it will reach the ears of the common council.

The council has even agreed on a rate for water rent after meters have been installed. It is a sliding scale which ranges from thirty cents a thousand gallons to fourteen cents a thousand. The consumer, who uses any amount up to twenty-five hundred gallons in three months will have to pay thirty cents a thousand. The rate for those using between twenty-five hundred and five thousand gallons will be twenty-eight cents. So the rate will decrease according to the additional number of gallons of water used in the quarter of a year.

If Mr. Ultimate Consumer gets any water from the city, he will have to use a meter, when enough to go

MAKING EFFORT TO DEFEAT BILL

Trading Stamp Interests Bringing Every Influence to Bear to Beat Measure.

WARNING NOTE IS SOUNDED

There is a bill before the general assembly that demands that the trading stamp shall be made redeemable either in cash or merchandise, and that the amount it calls for shall be printed on its face, writes W. A. Blodgett in the Indianapolis News.

Against this bill there is a determined fight by the trading stamp people; and the most powerful influence that is working with the trading stamp crowd is the American Tobacco Company. It will be interesting to recall that it was in connection with a trading stamp bill that several members of the Ohio legislature were caught by Burns detectives and sent to the penitentiary.

BREAK IN COLD WAVE IS COMING

Weather Bureau Says Temperature Will Rise Within 36 Hours or Possibly Sooner.

LOWEST OF WINTER TODAY

The coldest weather of the winter was recorded in Rushville this morning when many thermometers registered five degrees below zero. This is three degrees lower than the lowest temperature last Saturday morning which was the coldest morning up to that time. The temperature did not rise over twenty degrees and the cold raw wind that blew made the day all the more disagreeable.

The weather bureau says that some relief from the cold wave will be felt within thirty-six hours or possibly sooner. A temperature of not lower than five or ten degrees above zero is expected tonight and in the morning. The weather will be considerably warmer within the next few days, the bureau states.

Several copies of the annual reports of the State Entomologist have been received by County Superintendent C. M. George for distribution. They may be had free of charge by any person who calls.

The Modern Woodmen will initiate four candidates this evening. There will be at least twenty-five and possibly more in the big class to be taken in February 27.

Purdue Short Course for farmers, which ended last night, was one of the most successful gatherings ever held in Cambridge City. The promoters and the representatives of Purdue university expressed themselves as being highly pleased with the attendance and the enthusiastic interest in all three departments—the general, the domestic science and the public school section. The average attendance was estimated to have been 1,000. The receipts have not yet been added, but it is estimated that they will amount to $400.

Last night's sessions consisted of an address by Mrs. C. W. Foulke of Columbus, Ohio, and a discussion of the topic, "More Live Stock For Indiana" by D. O. Thompson of Purdue.

Yesterday resolutions were unanimously adopted that a permanent organization should be made of the Farmers Short Course and that another session for the farmers of Rush, Wayne, Union, Henry and Fayette counties would be held in 1914. The resolutions set forth that there is a general awakening of the entire country to the needs of wider dissemination of agricultural knowledge among the masses in order that food products may keep pace with the population, and that added attractiveness to farm life may induce more persons to engage in agricultural pursuits.

Corn continues to be king in Indiana. Prof. J. C. Beavers in his lecture on "More and Better Corn to the Acre," yesterday, told of the wonderful improvement made in methods of producing America's greatest cereal.

"Our homes should have personality and individuality," said Mrs. C. W. Foulke, in her talk on "Home Furnishing" before the Domestic Science section yesterday afternoon. "Simplicity should be the keynote of the home. Too many things are obtained that are not needed. There are two tests for every article brought into the home—its usefulness and its beauty."

"In furnishing the home there are a few rules to be followed. The floor should be darker than the ceiling. In choosing wall papers, dark reds, blues and greens should be eliminated, because they make the room too dark. Red is never a restful color. Browns, tans and greens are restful and make good coverings for living rooms and libraries. Vertical stripes makes the room look higher and drop borders make it look lower. The monotonous paper is the best, for it does not detract from the pictures that hang on the wall."

"Rugs are more preferable than carpets, for they are so much more easily cleaned. Avoid large flowery or serily designs in the floor coverings. Carpets should never be on the floors of kitchens and bed rooms."

"Chairs should be purchased for use, not looks. The chair should be constructed strongly, comfortably and be in harmony with the other furniture."

tion of County Superintendents —Bill Defeated.

After expressing its disfavor of the proposal to elect county school superintendents by popular vote, the state yesterday passed the Stotenburg bill for making women eligible to the office of school trustee or commissioner.

The county superintendents' bill was taken up on third reading and defeated 31 to 12. Senator Ballou, who introduced it, declared it was Democratic doctrine to get back to the people. He answered his critics, who declared it would put the county superintendents in politics, by replying that they were already in politics. The senator said that county superintendents and school book vendors had been lobbying against it, which was sufficient proof that it was needed.

County Superintendent C. M. George of this county, along with practically every county superintendent in Indiana, was opposed to the bill.

Yesterday resolutions were unanimously adopted that a permanent organization should be made of the Farmers Short Course and that another session for the farmers of Rush, Wayne, Union, Henry and Fayette counties would be held in 1914. The resolutions set forth that there is a general awakening of the entire country to the needs of wider dissemination of agricultural knowledge among the masses in order that food products may keep pace with the population, and that added attractiveness to farm life may induce more persons to engage in agricultural pursuits.

newspapers, it would apply here. The township trustees in Rush county get $2 a day for each day they work, with the exception of the Rushville township trustee who receive $2 straight, Sundays excluded.

The same committee also reported favorably on a bill to extend the terms of county assessors two years so they will be elected in November, 1916. This bill is to correct an evil that was done by the last legislature. Then a law was passed extending the terms of the township trustees and township assessors, making their elections fall in an "off" year. This was done to free the offices from politics as far as possible. Now it is desired that county assessor not be elected at the same time for the purposes of the business of the office.

SUFFERS FROM LOSS OF BLOOD

Herbert Gilson, Son of Mrs. Boone Gilson, Hurt in Railroad Yards at Spokane.

Herbert Gilson, a railway brakeman of Spokane, Washington, and son of Mrs. Boone Gilson living north of the city, almost bled to death one night recently, when he fell into a hole while braking in the Spokane yards, and his leg was severely cut. Relatives here have received just received news of the accident. It is thought that he will recover completely from the effects of the loss of blood.

Mr. Gilson was uncoupling two cars when his foot slipped and he toppled backwards into a hole along the track. A gash eight inches long and four inches deep, was cut in his leg, according to the information sent to local relatives. He called for assistance but the trainmen could not stop the flow of blood. Doctors expressed the fear that he would bleed to death before the ambulance reached the hospital. Mr. Gilson married Miss Katherine Krammes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Krammes, living southwest of Rushville.

Another bill of interest here passed the senate yesterday. Senator Stotensburg's measure to make women eligible to hold the office of school trustee or commissioner carried by a vote of 27 to 10.

This is the measure that in its original form providing for school suffrage for women caused much trouble between the Equal Suffrage Association and the Women's Franchise League, the rival suffrage associations of Indiana. The Women's Franchise League demanded full suffrage and said it would not be satisfied with a "half-way" measure, such as the bill proposed. The Equal Suffrage Association said it was willing to take what it could get.

Stotensburg changed the bill so as to eliminate suffrage for women. The bill was amended so as to make women eligible to membership on school boards of cities and towns, and provides for the compulsory election of one woman on each school board in cities and towns where the board is elected by the city council or board of town trustees.

It provides that in cities where there are now only three members of the school board, as is the case here, the number may be increased to four. Indianapolis newspapers say Senator Kistler's bill providing an increase to $1,000 a year of salaries of township trustees in counties with a population of between 18,000 and 30,000, was reported favorably by the committee on county and township business. County officials here are disposed to believe the increase is desired in townships between the above mentioned extremes.

CHECK RAISER SENT TO PRISON

Milton Crabtree, Colored, Will Serve
From Two to Fourteen Years in Reformatory For Forgery.

GIVEN MINIMUM SENTENCE

Grand Jury Called For February 14
And Petit Jury For February 17.

Milton Crabtree, colored, who yesterday pleaded guilty to the charge of forgery, was fined ten dollars and sentenced to serve from two to fourteen years in the reformatory at Jeffersonville by Judge Megee this morning. He was guilty of raising a check on Earl Winship from six dollars to twenty-six. Crabtree was not represented in court and when questioned by Judge Megee stated he had no excuse to offer. The sentence given Crabtree is the minimum for this crime. The commitment papers are made out and he will be taken to Jeffersonville tomorrow morning by Sheriff Beabout.

The sheriff was instructed by the court to call the grand jury for Friday, February 14, and the petit jury Monday, February 17. The first jury trial is set for February 17. The court will hear all the cases tried before that time.

In the case of Andy Yunker against Jess Harlow on a note demanding $200, the defendant filed a demur to the first paragraph of the plaintiff's complaint. A demur was overruled in the case of Charles Houghland, administrator of the estate of Jeremiah Matthews, deceased, against the Big Four railway. The case has been in court since 1905.

60 JERSEYS SHIPPED SOUTH

Walker & Vannice to Hold Sale in Montgomery, Ala.

A. P. Walker and L. G. Vannice of the Jersey Isle stock farm west of the city have shipped sixty head of Jerseys to Montgomery, Alabama, for their mid-winter sale. The auction will be held in a show tent on the Alabama state fair grounds Wednesday, February 19. The sixty head of Jerseys are mostly beefers and milch cows. Will Hardin went on the train with the cattle. This is the first sale the local importers ever held in the south, and if it is a success, they will likely make it an annual event.

Your Appearance Speaks For Itself

It is the duty of every one to look their very best. Putting the best foot forward is not only pleasing, but it is good business.

Your income and its amount has a great deal to do with the way you can dress, but not everything. Almost as much depends on how you spend your money. If you buy as the impulse strikes you it is a certainty that you will not always get full value. Your buying should be done with forethought. You can gain full knowledge of when, where, and what to buy in a few moments' time each day.

It takes no longer than that to go through the advertisements of the merchants of this city, the best of whom advertise in THE DAILY REPUBLICAN. Read these advertisements closely and constantly each day, then you can be sure of getting the best that money can buy at the lowest price for which it can be sold.

NATION SHOCKED OVER WOES OF GENERAL DANIEL E. SICKLES

Arrest of Gettysburg Hero Rouses Sympathies of Countrymen.

By WALTON WILLIAMS.

In the midst of the national preparation for a celebration of the battle of Gettysburg the country has been shocked and its sympathies touched by the predicament of the hero of that famous battle.

During the very twilight of his declining years, at the end of a life far beyond the average in length and transcendent in luster, Major General Daniel E. Sickles was recently threatened with a jail confinement. The aged veteran, ninety-two years old and the last of the civil war leaders of his rank, is under the charge of misappropriating the funds of the monument commission of New York, of which he was at one time chairman.

There is the most poignant element of romance in the whole experience of this grizzled warrior. His valor at the "peach orchard" on the bloody field of the civil war's greatest conflict, his love affairs, his illustrious career as diplomat and his indomitable pride in adversity all tumble upon the sensibilities of one who reads of his latest trouble.

The major general has figured in various affairs of hardship in the past few years. He has been estranged from his wife and son, Stanton, for a long time and on several occasions has been beset by suits for large sums of money which he had borrowed or contracted in unfortunate business affairs. Several times recently the great collection of war trophies, paintings, medals, arms, uniforms and other mementos which enrich his house at 23 Fifth Avenue, New York, have been in danger of attachment. Each time Mrs. Sickles has come to the aid of her husband with substantial sums. The old warrior had steadfastly renounced Mrs. Sickles and coldly turned from her through the years of their separation. A brief reconciliation occurred when Mrs. Sickles made her last contribution to protect his treasures.

This reconciliation proved short lived because of the rapid and sensational developments of General Sickles' final calamities. And therein is focused the biggest romance of the warrior's life.

The charge against him made by the state of New York technically is that he diverted to his own private uses approximately $30,000 of funds belonging to the state monument commission. He returned part of this, and the balance of his discrepancy was approximately $23,000 when the attorney general lost all patience and issued a warrant for the general's arrest.

This was the sorrowful blot on a patriot's record and the national sorrow of his countrymen that the hero of Gettysburg should be incarcerated as a felon behind jail bars, possibly to die there. A wave of indignation over such a prospect rose from all over the country. It was quickly apparent that no one, not even the state officials, really wished to prosecute the order of punishment upon the general, but that the officials were in a peculiar position. As Governor Sulzer expressed it, they had the deepest reverence and admiration for the general, but they could not officially condone or cover a public offense such as his.

Thus Major General Sickles, the man who whipped back the valiant hosts of the Confederacy under Major General Longstreet at Gettysburg and who lost his leg in that engagement, was actually arrested. For several minutes—though it was all technical—the hero of the greatest American battle was actually a prisoner.

Sheriff Julius Harburger, actuated by personal friendship and the same emotions felt by all concerned in the case, served the warrant of arrest and accepted the bond of $30,000 offered by a surety company in a perfunctory manner in the general's house. The incident was dramatic in the extreme. It was more of a social affair than a physical expression by the state of its power against a crippled old veteran.

It was in this hour of need that many personal friends and many prominent persons all over the country came to the front with offers of financial aid. All expressed their patriotic purpose of merely helping their countryman to repay in a pitifully small way the incalculable service rendered by the general for his country. It was proposed to raise and repay the $23,000 by popular subscription.

Most notable among those who came to the aid of the general was Mrs. Helen D. Longstreet, widow of the general who led the attack against Major General Sickles and was driven back in the famous Pennsylvania conflict.

Through Mrs. Longstreet it was made possible that the beaten foes of the troubled general might now come to his aid.

This is the letter General Sickles received from Mrs. Longstreet:

Gainesville, Ga., Jan. 25.
General Daniel E. Sickles, 23 Fifth Avenue, New York City:

My soul is sorrowed by your troubles. I am wiring the attorney general of New York that I will raise the money among the ragged, destitute, maimed veterans who followed Lee to pay the amount demanded if the New York officials will allow me sufficient time.

We are not writing into our history the stories of the degenerate descendants of heroic sires. The republic whose battles you fought will not allow your degradation.

HELEN D. LONGSTREET.

There is just one more phase of the famous general's present difficulties. Mrs. Sickles and Stanton, the son, have been directing serious charges against Miss Eleanor Earl Wilmerding, the general's housekeeper. When Mrs. Sickles, who was the first one looked upon as the one to save the general, expressed her willingness again to solve his trouble she made the condition that Miss Wilmerding must leave the general's house. She declared she would sell her jewels and beggar herself to save the wartime hero, but she would not do that to provide the comfort of the woman she declared was her husband's undoing.

General Sickles received this ultimatum from the lips of his son and thought it over for a day. Then he decided to accept the charity of his old foes rather than submit. He shut the doors of his house against his wife and son. It was a final display of the general's old headstrong, self-willed pride.

The picture of the general presented herewith has a sinister suggestion in view of the recent technical arrest, but in reality it represents a happy moment in the general's life. It was taken at a memorial celebration some time ago and shows the general being assisted by a policeman.

The son, who has shown such grim antagonism to his father and has uttered repeated stories of the alleged sins of the latter after the recent trouble, renewed his attacks with fiercer anger. He declared his father had carried on an improper love affair with a prominent New York society woman for over eighteen years and had squandered thousands of dollars on her, as well as upon Miss Eleanor Earl Wilmerding, the housekeeper. He displayed several letters purporting to have been written by the general to the society woman.

Finally he declared he would expose the society woman and regain some of the fortune which was squandered upon her and which was properly his patrimony in common with his sister.

He went so far as to say threats had been made upon his life by a brother of the woman he was attacking.

A servant in the house, speaking for the general, recently said:

"The general says that Stanton is an ungrateful son. Neither the general nor any one else dear to him cares a rap what this ungrateful son says. The people who know the general are standing by him, and no one holds him responsible for what this ungrateful son says. Letters are coming from all over the country, showing sympathy with him."

The letters which Stanton Sickles referred to, he declared, he recognized as being in the handwriting of the society woman whose alleged letters and those of his father to her, Stanton has been giving out.

"I am not afraid," he said, "and I won't cease from giving out letters until the housekeeper who squandered my father's fortune is driven from his home. I am going to see my lawyer about these latest threatening letters, but no matter about that. I shall continue until that woman is forced to leave my father."

In a letter to Mrs. Helen D. Longstreet Attorney General Carmody said recently that appeals made in behalf of General Sickles will not influence the state in its attempt to recover $23,476 which, it is said, the general appropriated from the funds of the New York State Monument association.

"Your sympathetic and patriotic expressions do justice to your heart," Mr. Carmody says in reply, "but they do violence to the facts in this case. General Sickles is being prosecuted by the state of New York for converting to his own use the sum of $23,476."

General Sickles was adjudged by men who were his subordinates on the battlefield or their sons to be unworthy of membership in the Loyal Legion, a secret military organization, in 1911.

His application for membership was met with a blackball, thus forever depriving him of the privilege of belonging to the organization. It was the second time the veteran had sought admittance to the Loyal Legion, but he withdrew the other time, about nine years ago, on the advice of his friends.

It seems from the result of the recent ballot that the animosity stirred up in the Loyal Legion at that time has not died in the intervening years. Many more new members have been accepted in the organization since 1902, and necessarily they must have been more or less unacquainted with the new "tea dance."

Fashionable women who are learning the tango and the one step (a new dance that is taking the place of the turkey trot) in the hall on the third floor came down and enjoyed the new feature after a cup of tea.

Mrs. Louis Craig Havemeyer, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gould, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Bingham, Mrs. Truxton Beale and Frederick Townsend Martin are among those who approve of the new "tea dance."

Baby Smokes Black Cigars.

Passengers and St. Louis Union station employees in the waiting room on the second floor of the building were startled recently by the sight of a three-year-old boy calmly lighting and smoking a long, black cigar with evident enjoyment. A train caller questioned the boy's mother, Mrs. Harriet Callahan of New Orleans. She told how her son had used tobacco since he was two years old on the advice of a physician. She said he had been afflicted with stomach trouble and that smoking had partly cured him.

Discovery of Baptismal Record Base of Legal Fight.

With the discovery of the baptismal record of Joseph Valliere, a French adventurer who became a Spanish don, his heirs, who are scattered throughout the United States, believe they have found the link needed to prove their claim to a tract of land eighty miles in width and 120 miles long, on which part of the city of New Orleans stands. For more than sixty years the heirs have been trying to establish their claim to the grant made to their ancestor by Caron de Carondelet as Spanish governor in 1763.

John Hartwile, who was engaged to try to complete the evidence which the Valliere heirs hope is going to divide $10,000,000 between them, found in the parish of L'Etienne de Beaumont, in Quebec, Canada, the baptismal record of Joseph Valliere.

The Valliere heirs, it is said, have enlisted the aid of United States Senator O'Gorman in having their claim investigated at Washington, and papers are being prepared for the legal fight.

CHASES BUTTERFLY A YEAR.

Entomologist Encircles Globe to Capture Bombyx.

The story of a 25,000 mile chase for a butterfly was told recently by Mrs. William Carleton Yance, wife of an English entomologist connected with the French Institute of Entomology, who is on her way to New York to join her husband.

Mrs. Yance said her husband went from Vancouver via Canada after a trip of 25,000 miles, begun solely for the purpose of catching one butterfly, an insignificant, long, red spotted bug belonging to the bombyx family, which is said to be nearly as numerous as the population of China.

"We have been butterfly chasing from Paris to Kioto," said Mrs. Yance, "and we got our little bombyx in the garden of a Japanese gentleman's residence at Kioto after pursuing him twelve months."

INTERVENTION IS INEVITABLE

The View Held Regarding the Mexican Problem.

DIFFICULT TASK FOR WILSON

Incoming President, Despite the Fact That He May Be Firmly Determined Not to Bring on Intervention, in the Opinion of Seasoned Observers Eventually Will Find Himself Without Means of Escaping Drastic Action.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Manuel Calero's sensational statement on the floor of the Mexican senate that he spent six months as ambassador at Washington in trying to the government and people of the United States about conditions in Mexico, has again focussed attention here upon the Mexican situation. The belief that Calero's outbreak would be followed by an increase in the dissension already existing between the Madero and the Mexican congress has emphasized the seriousness of the problem which President Taft will turn over to his successor in the White House.

Dispatches from Mexico City indicate the possibility of Calero's sensational admission having been made as a part of a fight he is waging against the policies of the Madero government for the bringing about of the retirement of the present cabinet. Calero is making his fight on a loan proposal and should he succeed it is believed by many observers in the Mexican capital, according to advices received here, that the Madero cabinet will have to retire because of the failure of its policy.

The present administration is not, however, letting the Mexican situation go by the board, by any means. The president has directed that everything be done that the situation seems to require.

In view of the conditions and the speed of disorder, army and navy officers who have had experience in Latin America are convinced that intervention in Mexico is inevitable.

Governor Wilson will take the presidency quite ignorant of what the Mexican situation really is and firmly determined not to bring on intervention by the United States, yet despite the facts, many predict that Mr. Wilson eventually will find himself without any means of escaping drastic action in Mexico.

SAYS CONFESSION WAS LIE

Farrell Declares Police Forced Him to Tell Bomb Story.

New York, Feb. 6.—John Paul Farrell has repudiated every word of his recent confession that he made the bombs which killed Grace Walker and Madeline Herrero and imperilled Judge Rosalsky. He says that the confession resulted from twenty-four hours of police "bulldozing" and threats that if he refused to say what the police wanted a case would be made out anyway and he would die in the electric chair.

His narrative of recantation ended mournfully with the observation, "They've got me down as a bug, and maybe I am one." He insisted that he never knew how a bomb was made until the police showed him one Tuesday.

The police laughed at this new turn in the case.

VASSAR STUDENT DROWNED

Toboggan Party Precipitated Into Artificial Lake.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Feb. 6.—While five Vassar college students were coasting down Sunset hill on a toboggan last night, the toboggan got beyond their control and ran out onto the thin ice of the new artificial lake, breaking through the ice and precipitating all five girls into the water. One of the number, Miss Elizabeth C. Mylod, daughter of Corporation Counsel John J. Mylod of this city, was drowned and the other four were saved after a desperate struggle.

Date For Argument Set.
Washington, Feb. 6.—The court of appeals of the District of Columbia has set Feb. 25 and 26 to hear arguments in the appeal of Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, officers of the American Federation of Labor, from the jail sentences imposed on them by the supreme court of the District of Columbia, for alleged contempt of court.

Victim of Loan Shark's Greed.
St. Louis, Feb. 6.—Richard Lee Hall, aged thirty-three, a railroad clerk, killed himself because his salary of $90 a month was demanded by loan sharks as interest on a debt of less than $500, and he could not raise $18 to pay the rent on a little flat occupied by himself and his young wife. The interest Hall was paying amounted to 5 per cent a week.

Ten Drown in Towboat Disaster.
Vicksburg, Miss., Feb. 6.—Ten persons including her entire crew, excepting the captain, and several passengers perished when the big towboat Monarch sank in Tchula lake.

COMING TO RUSHVILLE

Dr. Mayo And Associated Specialist
Will be at the Grand Hotel Tuesday, Feb. 11th, Hours 9 a.

HERE FOR ONE DAY ONLY

Remarkable Success of These Talented Physicians in the Treatment of Chronic Diseases.

Offer Their Services Free of Charge.

Dr. Mayo and Associated Specialists licensed by the State of Indiana for the treatment of deformities and all nervous and chronic diseases of men, women and children, offer to all who call on this trip, consultation, examination, advice free, making no charge whatever, except the actual cost of medicine. All that is asked in return for these valuable services is that every person treated will state the result obtained to their friends and thus prove to the sick and afflicted in every city and locality, that at last treatments have been discovered that are reasonably sure and certain in their effect.

These doctors are considered by many former patients among America's leading stomach and nerve specialists and are experts in the treatment of chronic disease.

Diseases of the stomach, liver, blood, skin, nerves, heart, kidneys or bladder, rheumatism, dropsy, sciatica, weak lungs and those afflicted with longstanding, deepseated chronic diseases, that have baffled the skill of the family physicians, should not fail to call.

Varicoel and Hydrocele cured in one treatment, no knife and no detrac-tion from business. Catarrh treated successfully.

No matter what your ailment may be, no matter what others may have told you, no matter what experience you may have had with other physicians, it will be to your advantage to see them at once. If your ease is incurable they will give you such advice as may relieve and stay the disease.
Do not put off this duty, you owe yourself, as a visit this time costs you nothing.

Remember this free offer for one day only.

The Meter System.

The average consumer of water in Rushville will command the council of the city for installing water meters, whenever it is done. Every fair citizen is interested in the city. And if it is to the city's best interest to conserve the water supply, he is in favor of any plan that will gain the ultimate end. It is almost the unanimous opinion that water meters offer the best solution.

It is the equitable method to use in charging for water. The consumer pays for what he gets. Surely, too, any fair consumer will not object so long as the rate is the average. He has a right to object if the rate is above the average, even though the plant were owned by a private corporation. He has even a greater right to object, in case the rate is high, when the plant is owned by the municipality and is operated with the people's money and for their benefit.

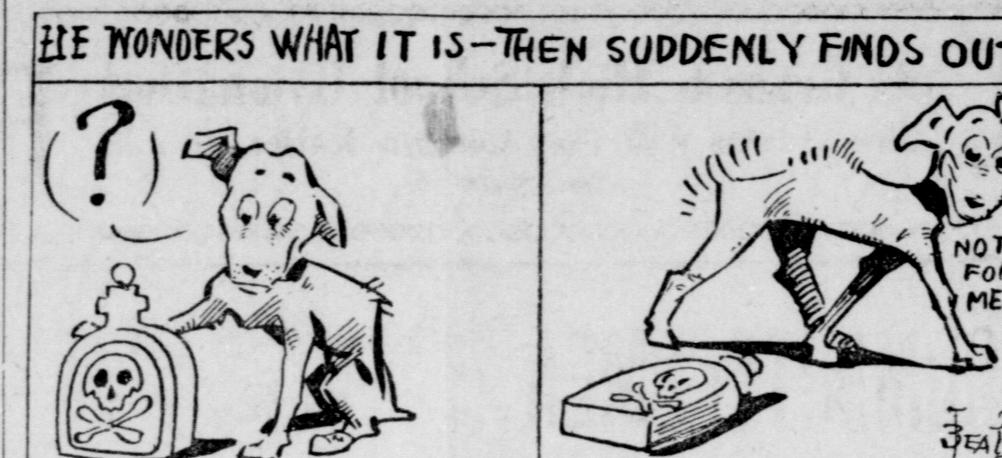

Water meters will work a hardship on the water thieves. That is one of the benefits of the system. Their installation will stop the practice of allowing water to run all night to keep pipes from freezing. It will put a stop to all practices that are causing the useless waste of thousands of gallons of city water every day. It will result in stopping the filching of water. Consumers who have to pay by the gallon will not allow the promiscuous use of water by others.

But the plan whereby consumers have to make a cash deposit of $12.60 to get a meter and pay a minimum charge if they do not use a certain amount of water during the quarter are objectional features. We have seen the evil of the cash deposit system in another branch of the city business.

The rule applied by the city that users of electricity must make a offer the best solution. deposit before they can get a meter has retarded the sale of electricity. There is little doubt but that electricity would be used for lighting purposes by many times as many people if the exorbitant deposit fee were not charged.

The whole thing harks back to one fact. The plant belongs to the people of Rushville. It was established for their benefit. It is here for every resident of the city to use. The plan of cash deposit to get any kind of a meter is arraie. If the city can not afford to purchase meters to sup-

COMMITTEEMEN WOULD BE HELP

It is Advocated That Political Organizations Might Assist in I. & C. Subsidy Election.

FAMILIAR WITH POLL BOOKS
Commissioners Appoint Officials in Noble, Richland and Rushville Townships.

The county commissioners have made all preparations for the special election to decide whether a tax shall be levied to buy right-of-way for the extension of the Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction company, which will be known as the Indianapolis & Cincinnati Electric Railroad company, through Rushville, Noble and Richland townships, with the exception of designating the voting places.

Before adjourning yesterday the board named the election officers. The election commissioners for the local option election in the city of Rushville were named, but the commissioners deferred the appointment of the remaining election officers until the meeting February 15.

It is being advocated that the precinct committeemen of the various political parties in the three townships where the subsidy election will be held Wednesday, March 12, could be pressed into service to good advantage. They are familiar with the names of the voters in their bailiwicks and could assist materially in getting out the vote. The precinct committeemen have poll books, and especially since the registration law has been in effect, have been in close touch with the voters.

The following election officers were appointed.

Noble township, precinct No. 1: John F. McKee, inspector; Charley Murphy and Mauzy Beabout, judges; Roscoe Titsworth and Macon Wiley, clerks; No. 2: Edgar Morris, (township trustee) - inspector: John O. Williams and William P. King, judges and Henry Miller and James Miller, clerks.

Rushville township, precinct No. 1: Carl E. Webb, inspector; Russell Beabout and Ralph Kennedy, judges; Alfred Williamson and Howard Mullin, clerks; precinct No. 2: William A. Allen, inspector; Frank E. Wollcott and Lewis M. Sexton, judges; S. C. Kirkpatrick and A. W. Posey, clerks; precinct No. 3: Guy Gordon, inspector; John H. Fraze and Omer Powell, judges; Arnold Ormes and Will C. McColgin, clerks. Precinct No. 4: Martin V. Spivey, inspector; Elmer E. Griffiths and Martin Kelley, judges; William H. Cherry and John Laughlin, clerks. Precinct No. 5: William A. Alexander, inspector; William E. Horton and John F. Cross, judges; Griffin Treadaway and John Worthington, clerks. Precinct No. 6: Washington Allen, inspector; H. G. Hackman and William A. Jones, judges; Frank Cowing and J. T. Arbuckle, clerks. Precinct No. 7: William C. Fair, inspector; William A. Mull and George W. Krammes, judges; James J. Geraghty and W. L. Reector, clerks. Precinct No. 8: R. H. Berry, inspector; Lam Stevens and L. R. Webb, judges; Francis McGee and E. F. Priest, clerks. Precinct No. 9: James V. Young, (township trustee) - inspector; William Wallace and R. S. Davis, judges; George Campbell and J. C. Caldwell, clerks; Precinct No. 10: George Helm, inspector; R. F. Seudder and J. C. Clore, judges; George Punteney and Fred Cochran, clerks.

Richland township, precinct, No. 1: James W. Anderson (township trustee) - inspector; William Fisher and Charles B. French, judges; Ira B. Hite and Lon Kerrick, clerks.

Amusements

The Princess will have a two reel Lubin feature tonight entitled, "The Crooked Path." It is said to be a powerful story of the underworld and features Orni Hawley and Edwin August.

The Palace will show a three reel production tonight taken from the play "Two Orphans!" The picture is taken from the stage version of Kate Claxton and is staged under her supervision. The story of the play is well known and the picture is said to be the equal of the original. The other features include pictures of Leftie Louie, the pickpocket and "The Toy Circus."

At English's opera house on Feb. 7th and 8th, Henry B. Harris Estate will present Miss Rose Stahl and an excellent company in Charles Klein's play of department store life, "Maggie Pepper." Chas. Klein always has been an opportunist in his plays. He has looked about him for conditions peculiar to our times and people, and then about that idea has built a story with a big heart appeal. It is such a play that he has made in "Maggie Pepper." The story as put on the stage by Mr. Klein and interpreted by Miss Stahl, will not only prove entertaining, but underneath the lighter element is concealed a big lesson which we need to learn. There will be a matinee performance on Saturday.

JOHN RAWN PROMINENT CITIZEN

CHAPTER I.

Certain Notable Details in Genesis.

One John Rawn is to be the hero of this pleasing tale; no ordinary hero, as you might learn did you make inquiry of himself.

John Rawn was born in Texas—and of Texas at the very spot where, had it been left to his own candid opinion, no John Rawn, no especial hero, ought ever to have been born. The village he honored by his birth—one of seven which now contend over that claim to fame—was the very home of democratic equality; and how could the home of democratic equality be called typical environment for the production of a man believing in the divine right of a very few?

Neither, had John Rawn been consulted in the matter, would he have endorsed the plans of fate in respect to his ancestry any more than he did the workings of the misguided stars in regard to his environment. By right he should have been the offspring of parents for long generations accustomed to rule, to command, to sway the destinies of others. Yet far from this was the truth in our hero's case.

It was rarely that ever a smile enlivened the somewhat heavy features of young John Rawn, even in the earliest stages of his babyhood. Rarely did the mirth of any situation bring up in his face an answering dawn of appreciation. He was a serious child, as all admitted even from the first. He grew to be a grave boy, a solemn youth.

Curious persons might have found certain explanations for these traits in the calling, the temper and training of the father of John Rawn. In that time and place, a minister of the gospel was a man of whom all stood in awe. He was not much gainsaid, not much withheld, not much disapproved. His conclusions were announced for acceptance, not for argument.

It is not known, nor is it important, whence Mrs. Rawn came, or how she happened to marry her lord, John Rawn, Senior, the Methodist preacher in the little Texas town. They were married when they arrived at this place, and had been for some years. John was the first child granted to them as answer to his father's grumbling; the latter, very nobly and righteously, dreading what calamity the world must suffer did none come to perpetuate his race.

These necessary and essential preliminaries now all stand adjusted; and we are able finally to say that John Rawn at least and at last was born, silently, quietly, with small rebellion on the part of his mother. He lay there in his first cradle, silent, a trifle red, a slight frown upon his face, a trace of gravity in his features as he ventured an introspective look within the confines of his couch, and for the first time discovered that wholly interesting, remarkable, indeed wonderful human being, Himself.

Having assured himself that he was here, John Rawn sighed, turned over in his cradle, and presently fell asleep, well assured that, although He had selected Texas for this event, God after all was in His heaven, and that, in the circumstance, all in due time would be well with the world. Could any hero of his years have acted with a finer, a larger generosity?

In his younger school days there was a way about young Mr. Rawn. He did not really care for plodding, yet he was aggrieved if not accorded rank among his fellow pupils.

Even in these early days his features were in large mold, even then his abundant hair fell across his brow. His eyes were blue and prominent, his nose distinct, his lower lip prominent, protruding and in times of great emotion semi-pendulous. Even thus early he seemed old, serious, foreordained.

Much of this might have been remedied by kindly application of educational or parental rod, but young Mr. Rawn remained largely unchastened. His parents did not care to punish him, and his teacher did not dare to do so. Was he not the minister's son? If his mother had misgivings they were well concealed. She herself only shuddered in her soul when she heard the orotund voice of the master of the house explain, in contemplation of his first born, "How much he is like me!" Yes, he was like. His mother knew how like.

At that time and in that part of the country this little western village might have been called almost a little world of itself. Estimates of men and affairs were such only as might grow out of the soil. The great world beyond was a thing but vaguely seized of any who dwelt here.

The family was its own world. In large part it tilled its own fields and ran its own factories. Mrs. Rawn molded the candles which made the bedroom lights and those by which she sewed—though not that by which her husband read and wrote—in a kettle in the back yard at butchering times, when suet came the pauper's way. She made her husband's long black coats, building them upon some prehistoric pattern. She made, mended and washed his shirts, hemmed his stocks and darned his socks for him. Using the outworn ministerial cloth in turn, she made also, in due time, the garments of the son and heir, even building for him a cap, with ear-flaps, for winter use. Her own garments might have been seen by the most casual eye to have been the product of her own hands.

A certain interest attaches to a little event which nowhere else, save in some such village, would have been noted or could have been possible. The leading local merchant, in a burst of enterprise, had imported a couple of clusters of bananas from New Orleans, the first ever brought into the town. For a time none of the citizens purchased, and, indeed, it required the grudging gift of a banana or so to establish a local demand. Then—built on the assurance of a wise and much-traveled citizen who had once eaten a banana at Fort Worth—the rumor of the bananas passed rapidly through the town. Swiftly it became an important thing to announce to a neighbor that one had eaten of this fruit. In time, even children took thereof.

At this time young Mr. Rawn was six years of age, and by reason of his years and his social position at least as much entitled to bananas as any of his like thereabout. Yet, he had none. The tragedy of this wrung his mother's soul. Was it to be thought that this, her son, should be denied any of the good things of life, that he should have less than equal enjoyment of life's privileges in the company of his fellows? The climax came when young Mr. Rawn himself approached his mother's knee, with wonder and surprise upon his face, inquiring why others had bananas, while he himself, the Lord's anointed, and son of the Lord's anointed, had none. It was at that time that his mother somewhat furtively stole away down the village street. She had a few coppers, saved by such hook and crook as you and I may not know, and these she now professed to devote to a holy cause.

It was at about this same time, also, that there chanced to pass by, on the sidewalk in front of the parsonage, two boys younger than John Rawn himself. These he regarded intently, for he saw from a distance that each had some suspicious object in his hand. His own suspicions became certainties. Here was visible proof that they, mere common persons, were owners of specimens of that fruit whose excellence was rumored throughout the town. They ate, or were about to eat, while he did not! They had luxuries while he had none! They had not asked his permission, yet they ate! Form this picture well in your mind, oh, gentle reader. It is that of John Rawn and ourselves.

With great gravity and dignity young Mr. Rawn stalked down the brick walk to the front gate of the parsonage yard. Calmly, with no word, but with uplifted hand—nay, merely by his stately dignity—he barred the progress of these two. They paused, uncertain. Then he held out his hand, and, with a growl of anger, he snatched the bananas from their hands, and, with a scowl of contempt, he flung them into the bushes. The two boys, with faces pale as death, fled away, never to be seen again. John Rawn, however, was not satisfied. He had still a desire to taste the fruit, and, with a determined step, he stalked back to the parsonage door, and, with a scowl of contempt, he flung them into the bushes. The two boys, with faces pale as death, fled away, never to be seen again. John Rawn, however,

SUDDEN SHIFT OF WAR PLANS

Bulgars Starting In On a New Campaign.

LEAVING TCHATALDJA LINES

The Latest Movement Reported From the Front in the Balkan Struggle Has to Do With a Maneuver on the Part of the Bulgarian Army, Backed by Greek Warships, to Capture the Gallipoli Peninsula.

London, Feb. 6.—It may be inferred, notwithstanding the meagreness of the news, that important movements are proceeding in the neighborhood of Constantinople, though as yet, so far as can be learned, there has been no fighting of consequence either at Tchataldja or Gallipoli. It looks as though the Bulgars were carrying out a change of tactics, but whether this is on their own initiative or is due to some threatening operations of the Turks is not clear.

One correspondent at Sofia sends a report that the Bulgarians have abandoned any immediate serious attempt to enter the Illinois "white house" battled at its doors to gain admittance at the recent gubernatorial reception. Mrs. Dunne almost fainted during the reception, and today her right hand cannot be closed because of the terrible pressure from the handshakers.

POLICE CAPTAIN MAY REVEAL GRAFT LEAD

Negotiations Under Way Looking to Confession.

New York, Feb. 6.—Shortly after 10 o'clock last night District Attorney Whitman went to the home of Police Captain Thomas W. Walsh at 1950 Madison avenue. The district attorney was uncommunicative as to the purpose of his errand when he was seen entering the house of the captain. Representatives of the captain previously had been in consultation with the district attorney with the object of learning just what the position of the captain would be if he decided to disclose whatever he may know concerning police graft. The district attorney gave these envoys to understand that the captain would have little to fear if he made a clean breast about the police graft.

The envoys who talked with the district attorney said frankly that their principal was willing to treat with the prosecutor if the terms were satisfactory.

Late developments have brought the matter nearer home to a certain inspector than it had hitherto been brought. Policeman Fox told the district attorney that $950 of the $1,200 raised to keep Sipp out of New York came from this inspector.

It is understood that Captain Walsh surrendered himself entirely into the hands of District Attorney Whitman, admitting that everything Fox had said implicating himself was true, and also brought in Inspector Dennis Sweeney as one who shared the graft equally with himself. It is also understood that he gave sufficient information regarding a civilian at police headquarters to warrant the district attorney in believing that he will be able to put the question up to this high official in a very certain manner.

POISON IN WATER BOTTLE

Prominent Philadelphian Victim of Mysterious Tragedy.

Philadelphia, Feb. 6.—Israel Walton, a member of one of the oldest families in Philadelphia, was fatally poisoned yesterday afternoon when he drank a quantity of water containing cyanide of potassium at the Frankfort tool works, where he for years held an executive position. He died in fifteen minutes after taking the water from a bottle which has been used for that purpose for years. The police believe the poison was mixed in with criminal intent. Theories of suicide and accident are both scouted by special policemen investigating the case.

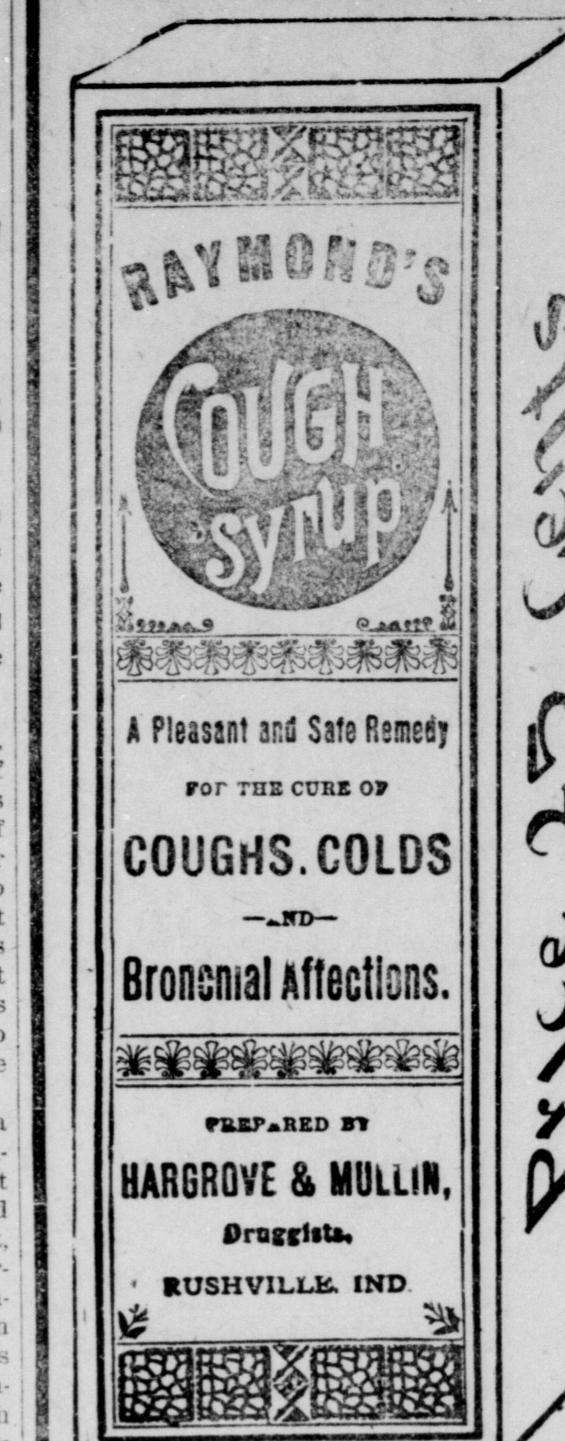

President Elect Wilson has begun work on his inaugural address.

JOLLY RAWN

A Story for the Masses and the Classes

By EMERSON HOUGH

Author of The Mississippi Bubble, 54-40 or Fight, etc

JOHN RAWN is Emerson Hough's greatest single achievement. Here is an extraordinary portrayal of an extraordinary man—and more. It is the portrayal—alternately kind and savage, laughing and grave, humorous and bitter—of one phase of American ambition today. Here is a mirror for us all. Having gazed in it, we may be sobered, but we will have benefited, and, after all, pleased as much as sobered.

Our Next Serial

The monstrous egotism of the man—worked out in all its monstrous consequences—leaves him before us like some Rodin statue, huge, grotesque, distorted, impressive, alike horrible and pathetic. Not this year nor in many years shall we see in fiction a character as unique and fascinating.

You Cannot Afford to Miss It!

HONESTY IN ADVERTISING

WE have always striven to win and hold the confidence of this community. Its belief in us, its entire trust, is a prize, that above all others, we aim to keep.

By our deeds and our words we seek to establish this bond of confidence between the public and ourselves. To this end we have endeavored in the past to make our announcements in a simple language impossible to misconstrue, and the same policy will be carried out in the future.

Truth is the very soul of advertising. We wish in our advertisements to be taken literally. In them we say only what we mean, and we promise only what we can literally fulfill.

Advertising is one of the principal contact points with the public, and upon the quality of it, to a great extent, depends our success. Therefore our announcements, by their candor, truthfulness and straightforwardness, but reflect the salient features of our policy—courteous service, value giving, integrity and quality.

CAN'T GET OVER 'GUMSHOE' TRAIT

Continued from Page 1 around have been purchased. And he will have to plunk down $12.60 for the use of the meter. The conclusion reached is then that the consumer who uses city water will have to pay $12.60, or will not get any water.

In addition to all this, the council is undecided whether or not to establish a minimum rate. If the consumer does not use so much water in a quarter, it costs him a stated sum anyway. It matters not if he uses none, it costs him just the same under the minimum rate plan. There is opposition to this scheme.

Those who are using water meters now have to pay a flat rate of twenty cents a thousand gallons no matter how much they use. A. T. Mahin is reported to have investigated in forty cities and found that the average rate for water, when it is obtained from wells, is forty cents a thousand gallons and twenty cents a thousand when from a stream. It is understood the new rate will not be adopted before Dr. C. H. Parsons and Councilman George F. Moore return.

Instead of advertising for bids to supply meters and going about it in the regular way, the city council has been having representatives of meter firms slip in here one at a time and make their estimate. The council has been holding secret meetings every now and then to consider the offers. When a representative of the firm making Hersey meters heard the council had ordered Keystone meters without publicly opening bids, he came here yesterday prepared to register a complaint.

TO HOLD SHORT COURSE IN 1914

The parlor should be eliminated. Better have two living rooms. In furnishing a home, avoid pretentious things, unusual things and articles in bad design and color."

In discussing preparation of meals, Mrs. Foulke stated that every housewife must study out the food that will best fit the requirements of her family.

"In planning our diet," she said, "the principles that guide us are, first, there must be some muscle building food to take care of the wear and tear of the body tissues; second, some carbohydrates, like fats and starches, to supply the bulk of the heat and energy; third, some foods rich in mineral matter; fourth, some bulky foods to keep the digestive tract clean; fifth, the foods must be suited in kind and amount to the circumstances of those who are going to eat it. A man who is living a vigorous life out of doors can eat richer foods than one who is shut in."

"A dinner consisting of roast beef, macaroni and cheese, baked beans and mince pie would not be a wise combination because it contains too much protein, but if we would serve macaroni with tomato sauce, omit the baked beans, serve lettuce salad, omit the mince pie, and serve fresh fruit and add potatoes, the meal would be well balanced."

OTHER ELECTIONS CALLED

Dates in Several Indiana Cities Same
As Local One.

A number of local option elections will be held in Indiana on or near the date of the one in Rushville which will be March 4. Those already set are: Marion, March 3; Tipton, March 4; Portland, March 4; Bedford, March 6; Decatur, March 5, for city and the township outside the city; Wabash, March 4; Rockville, February 25, for both the city and the township outside; Gas City and Van Buren and Pleasant townships in Grant county. Over half the places where elections have been called are "wet."

LOCALS WON CLOSE GAME FROM MILROY

Rushville High School Team Took Contest Last Night By a Score of 16 to 15.

FIRST HALF ENDED 8 TO 7

The local high school team was played to a stand still last night by the Milroy high school team and just pulled out with a margin of one point. The final score was 16 to 15 and the game throughout was as close as the score indicates. Milroy had the advantage of playing on their home floor and almost handed the Rushville team a defeat. The game put up by Milroy surprised the locals and to win they had to go the limit. The contest was fast and from the start neither team seemed to have the advantage. The first half ended 8 to 7 in favor of Rushville. The second half started with a rush and the locals tried to increase the lead but could not get over two or three points to the good. Toward the close Milroy took a brace and it looked as though the locals were to be defeated. For Rushville Shanahan played the best game.

Milroy will be brought here for a return game in a few weeks.

The Rushville team lined up as follows: Hinkle and Cameron, forwards; Webb, center; Shanahan and Frazier, guards. Smelser and Crosby officiated.

Rushville will play Franklin here tomorrow night.

INFANT DIES.

Marguerite Rogers, the three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rogers, died last night at their home north of Raleigh after a short illness from pneumonia. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon and burial will take place in Lewisville.

TOO MUCH WEATHER.

The basketball game between the New Salem high school team and the Falmouth team scheduled for tomorrow night in Fairview has been called off on account of the weather. The game will be played later in the season.

A Word

We wish to thank all the people of Rush and surrounding counties for the most liberal response to our two weeks' sale just closed.

For genuine values, sustained interest and continuous enthusiasm, this sale has never been eclipsed in our career.

We thank you.

We Have Never Been Known to Offer a Vehicle to the Public at a cut price. We are not going to charge you an outlandish profit on a buggy today in order to sell your neighbor one at a sacrifice price tomorrow and we have two reasons for this, one of them is that it is not treating you right to charge you more for an article than we charge your neighbor, and the second reason is that our margin of profit is figured on a basis that makes it impossible to cut our prices and make a profit. The fact is this: that we can sell you a buggy any day in the year cheaper than you can buy one of the same grade any other place in the county, and if you have waited until this time to buy a Storm Buggy, we want a chance to prove to you that we can take care of you on this proposition better than any one else, regardless of cut prices that they may advertise.
